Wednesday, June 27 Where is God when I need Him most?

Feeling a bit out of touch with the Lover of your soul? Has God deserted you? Absolutely not! In fact, today He wants to show up in your life in a variety of ways. Tonight, we will find fresh vision and vigor as we discover God as Warrior, Bridegroom, and Father.

Wednesday, July 11 What does a godly woman look like?

You want to honor God with your life and your actions. But sometimes it just seems an impossible task. Tonight, we will take a fashion makeover --- discovering what we are to put on and take off in order to shine as vibrant, godly women.

Wednesday, July 18 Where do I find strength and courage when I’m overwhelmed?

Is your spiritual bank account overdrawn since this last crisis hit? Do you desperately need to learn ways to make daily heart deposits in a way that suits your busy life? Tonight, we will discover ways to be filled by Jesus so that we can pour out to others with both strength and courage.

Wednesday, July 25 How can I make my home a haven in every season of life?

Is your home a place of serenity and nurture – for yourself and others? Whether you are in the crazy season of mothering young children in a house or the solo season of retirement in an apartment, these five practical changes can make your home a true refuge and joy.

Wednesday, August 1 Is there hope to move beyond my hidden struggles?

Everyone has pain and brokenness. Whether yours is physical, spiritual, emotional or social, there is help for restoration and renewal. Tonight, we will glean hope from those who were transformed by the Wounded Healer.

Wednesday, August 8 How do I love those who are different, difficult and demanding?

Everyone says “Love is the answer” – even Jesus! But saying it and doing it can be two different things. What about people who push our buttons, who offend us, or who even frighten us? Biblical commands always include biblical provision. Tonight, we will discover a whole new way to both receive and give love.
